General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

There has been a significant change to the legislation regarding data protection. A new regulation called the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is now in place and has been adopted by UK Law. All companies within the EU had until May 2018 to ensure they are compliant with the new Regulation. The GDPR is the first comprehensive overhaul in around 20 years and has some significant changes to the way organisations can obtain, use and retain data in their day to day work; there are also increased penalties for companies who do not comply.
